

These holly berry cookies have been made during the holidays by Alan's family for years. This was our little family's first attempt at making them. They were delicious and super easy to make! We hope y'all enjoy them, too!
Francine, Alan, Ebenezer, Moses, and Malachi Files

Holly Berry Cookies By The Files Family

Ingredients:

- 1/4 cup butter
- 1 package (35-40) regular marshmallows or 4 cups miniature marshmallows
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 2 tsp. green food coloring
- 3 cups cornflakes
- 1 package red hots candy

Directions:

Melt butter on medium-low heat in a non-stick pot (or in a double boiler). Add marshmallows while stirring constantly. Once marshmallows are melted, add vanilla and green food coloring. Stir in cornflakes. Grease a spoon and drop on to a greased cookie sheet or greased wax paper. Press a few red hots on top of each cookie quickly before they begin to cool. (They should look like berries on holly leaves.)

Note: We did not have any red hots so we just used red jellybeans instead